

Strategic Defence Deployment of drinking water

Strategic Defence Deployment of drinking water is necessary in many military operations. Volumes and duration vary, until more permanent solutions can be arranged. North Water Greenland prioritizes first response water security with a focus on safety and efficiency.

Extraction can be done from several sources around the world, with sources such as Greenland, Mexican gulf, and ad hoc locations close to the zone of operation. The water undergoes rigorous quality control measures prior to shipment, during shipment and at delivery.

Our bulk tanker vessels, we ensure the safety and purity of the water during transit. Whether clients choose direct purchase or delivery with a charter vessel, we guarantee a secure and seamless process.
